SCOPE OF WORK AND GENERAL SPECIFICATIONS
FOR Karl Storz Tenaculums

1. Background: The Michael E. DeBakey VA Medical Center (MEDVAMC) currently owns multiple Karl Storz Tenaculum instruments but due to age they need to be replaced and current par levels increased. The Gynecology Section uses these instruments for various surgical procedures. Most importantly, the tenaculum decreases the flexion of the uterus and eases passage of instruments into the endometrial cavity. Tenaculum placement generally precedes insertion of an intrauterine device (IUD), removal of lost IUDs, endometrial biopsy, uterine aspiration, and hysteroscopy. During IUD insertion, tenaculum forceps are used to gently grasp and stabilize the cervix. This helps align the uterine canal and supports safer, more accurate placement of the intrauterine device. These instruments are designed for precision handling during surgical procedures and are only manufactured by Karl Storz. The instruments must be matched to currently owned sets at MEDVAMC.
