Part 3: Subcontracting & Acquisition Strategy Considerations

Attention Small Business Respondents (Interested in Prime Contractor Role):

The acquisition strategy for this requirement has not yet been decided; however, the Air Force is contemplating setting this aside for small businesses if there is both sufficient interest and capability demonstrated. A key factor in a Small Business Set-Aside determination is that two or more small business prime contractors must be capable of providing at least 50% of the entire scope of the required supplies/services (per FAR 52.219-14, Limitations on Subcontracting).

- Please provide specific details and rationale demonstrating how your company would achieve compliance with FAR 52.219-14.
- If teaming arrangements or subcontracts are to be used, clearly delineate them. Provide the anticipated percentage of effort to be subcontracted, specify whether small or large businesses will be used, and detail your previous experience in teaming arrangements.

Attention All Potential Respondents:

If this acquisition is not set aside for small business, it is anticipated that the resulting contract may contain a small business utilization requirement.

- Please provide feedback on which specific areas of this requirement you believe are likely candidates for small business subcontracting.

    - Agency/organization supported
    - Customer Point of Contact (name and telephone number)
3. Requirement Barriers: Are there specific requirements in the documentation provided that would currently preclude your product/service from being a viable solution?
4. Pricing & Terms: Are there established market prices for our requirement? If you offer this product and/or service to both U.S. Government and commercial entities, is the requirement offered to both under similar terms and conditions? Briefly describe any differences.
